Personal Paragraphs From Various Sections of Mendocino County—Information Gathered by Our Busy Correspondents Throughout the County.

LAYTONVILLE, April 2.—IN THE PRESS of last week we noticed an article drawing attention to the prosperous outlook in this county for the coming summer, which will be largely due to the influx of people seeking homes and tourists on pleasure bent, and furthermore the article urged the improvement of thoroughfares, that traveling might be made easy.

Now this last is good counsel and should strike the good citizens of this community and awaken them to the fact that the grade of the roads to Laytonville is miserable, indeed, when a 16-inch downgrade to Willits could be had instead of climbing the weary Sherwood hill merely for the purpose of descending the other side, must seem to a southern county man as somewhat behind the time.

Tha idea that good roads are a detriment to any community has been proven a fallacy long ago, and is held only by those who would have packmules and mountain trails as avenues of commerce. So if the good citizens of this community, with a long pull and a strong pull and a pull all together, would bring their influence to bear in the right direction, they would have a road that one would not fear and dread to travel; fearful lest Buck or Bill would refuse to move, and who is so inhuman as to blame them?

On the Hawkins or Requa hill, peace would then be established The country would boom were the grades easy and the roads smooth; the turbulent spirit of the teamster would be quelled, and the memory of these now forty and fifty-inch grades would pass away as a tale that is told.

Henry Britt left on Monday for a trip to the southern country. How far south he does not know, probably to the metropolis, or even farther, where the orange blossoms bloom.

Mark Norris was in town Sunday with his dashing team and phaeton, stayed but a moment, whirled and was soon lost to view in a cloud of dust and the hazy distance.

Billy Orender, with Charles Capell's team, started for Ukiah Monday for a load of freight. The roads are now in good condition for freighting; this is what Lee Wilson says, and he knows whereof he speaks, as they were repaired under his supervision.

M. L. Weeks, an old school teacher of this county, paid this community a business visit last week. He is furnishing school supplies and has met with fair success.

The growler still growls and the howler still howls, but Will Cooper keeps mum and turns mauls by scores and by hundreds.

John Williams, the genial proprietor of the Cahto hotel, with Frank Babcock and Rufus Fielder, paid Laytonville a visit on Sunday.

We won't say that Charles Lambert, the superintendent of the Hardin ranch, with his wife, were in town Sunday visiting their many friends and acquaintances.

Neoma Leonard and Amy Orender were in town Sunday.

"Zeke" Babcock, the wit, story-teller and Long valley Bohemian, was in town Sunday. Come again, Zeke, the town calls you.

Ted West, the genial clerk of the Peoples cash store, took a flying trip to Covelo last week, and left Eugene Sampson, he of the agreeable manner, in charge of the store while gone.

Francis Vassar has been busily engaged in fencing for some time past. Francis, who believes in doing a thing well, has made a good broad fence that will stand the fierce storms of fifty winters.

A short time ago George Vann was hurt in driving from Eel river, caused by his horse taking fright and overturning the cart. A sprained ankle and other bruises, which kept him indoors for some time, was the result of the accident. At present writing he is rapidly recovering.

The entertainment of which we spoke last week was postponed until the following Friday, on account of the then serious illness of the child of Dr. Hopkins and wife.

Sickness and accident seems to have been abroad in our midst. Quite a number are now recovering from illness.

N. P. Howe of this place was hurt quite badly yesterday by his runaway team, which broke the wagon-tongue and ran over Mr. Howe, but whether the case is serious we have not yet learned.

RONALD.

The directors of the California-Northwestern Railway company came up to Ukiah Saturday as guests of President A. W. Foster. The directors are: George W. Prescott, George A. Pope, George A. Newhall, A. W. Foster and F. A. Wickersham. Mr. Wickersham, owing to illness, was unable to accompany the party. The other guests of Mr. Foster were: I. Steinhart, manager of the Anglo-California bank; Jesse W. Lilienthal, general counsel for the company; Daniel Meyer, a capitalist; I. W. Drew, secretary of the development company, and H. L. Middleton, one of the directors of the development company. President Foster took the party up the road over the extension, and all expressed themselves as greatly pleased, not only regarding the splendid country through which they passed, but on the outlook for the road. The general impression among those who keep themselves informed in railroad matters seems to be that the local road will eventually be the portion of an overland system.

Obituary.

Leland Heap was born in Humboldt county July 28, 1889, and died at the home of his parents on Sunday morning, March 27, 1901. The funeral services were held in St. John's M. E. church on the following afternoon and was conducted by Rev. H. J. Winsor. Little Leland was ill but a short time, but he suffered very acutely until death mercifully released him. He was a boy much beloved by all his friends and companions. His class from the grammar school on the day of the funeral were drawn up on each side of the entrance to the church. His Sunday school and junior league friends decorated his vacant place in their class with flowers, and sang during the service one of his favorite hymns. His feet already tread the avenue of palm and amaranth, and we pray that grace may sustain the hearts of his bereaved and sorrowing parents and relatives.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST FEW DAYS FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Attempt to Assassinate the Czar—Blind Man Elopes With His Wife's Sister. Remarkable Speech by the Emperor of Germany—Tragic Death of a Nun.

There is great unrest in Russia at present. A recent dispatch says it is reported that an officer of the household attempted to assassinate the czar. He fired at his majesty, but missed. He then shot and killed himself before he could be arrested. The London Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says that 72 members of a revolutionary committee were arrested after a desperate defense, the revolutionists firing at the police. Altogether 3000 arrests have been made. It is rumored that some of the ministers now wear steel cuirasses.

Sister Augustine and Sister Mary Frances, two Carmelite nuns from Hallettsville, Tex., were on a Southern Pacific train on their way to New Orleans, when Sister Augustine went to the platform and attempted to throw herself from the train, which was running at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Sister Frances grappled with her, but was unable to hold her back, and both fell to the ground. Sister Augustine was found to be unhurt when picked up, but her devoted companion was killed. Sister Augustine had become demented, and her companion was taking her to the mother house in New Orleans for treatment.

The supreme court of Ohio decided that debenture companies are illegal; that the methods employed are those of a lottery, and that they are fraudulent and contrary to public policy.

The departure of large numbers of emigrants from Porto Rico for Hawaii is draining the island of its best laborers. The entire press of Porto Rico is objecting to this emigration. Planters cannot cultivate their lands owing to the lack of money, and consequently there is no work to be had. The authorities are taking steps to prevent this emigration.

The North German Lloyd steamer Grossor Kurfurst arrived at New York from Bremen with 1954 steerage passengers. The largest number of steerage passengers previously carried by one vessel was 1814, brought by the steamship Barbarossa of the same line recently. These two shiploads of people show an unusually heavy German immigration for March.

An eccentric old man, who was known as "Miser" Mead, and his sister Susan, who was supposed to be insane, were found dead in the kitchen of their home, 152 Virginia avenue, Jersey City. They had apparently been dead for a month or six weeks. The body of the woman, partly dressed, was discovered sitting erect in a rocking-chair near the cooking stove. Mead's body lay on a bed in a corner. It is conjectured that the two died either of exposure or were asphyxiated by coal gas from the stove. Mead was about 75 years old and his sister about 70.

Totally blind, married for 24 years, the father of a family and proprietor of a prosperous restaurant, B. Coffee of Kimball, S. D., eloped with his wife's sister, Mrs. Clara Richards, a married woman with a family of grown children. Mrs. Richards' home is at San Francisco and she recently arrived at Kimball to visit her sister. Trouble arose between Mrs. Coffee and her sister, and finally Mrs. Richards left. Coffee followed her and joined her in Sioux City.

A big black spider has appeared in the fields all over the lower part of British Columbia as an enemy of the cutworm. The latter did great damage to cereal crops and potatoes last year. The spiders are harmless to vegetation, and are killing off the early cutworms in great numbers. Deputy Minister of Agriculture J. R. Alderson has made a complete investigation, and he considers that the cutworm is a pest of the past.

A heavy rainstorm, accompanied by high wind, prevailed in Dallas, Tex. The wind damaged roofs and blew down shrubbery, and the rain was so heavy that the streets were torrents, which swept everything before them. Street-car traffic was delayed, and a quarter of a mile of track in the southern part of the city had to be abandoned for nearly a day. The damage in Dallas is estimated at $25,000.

In the Oxford and Cambridge boat race, Oxford won by half a length. It was a grand race. Both crews were much exhausted.

Emperor William, according to a Berlin dispatch, in addressing the Emperor Alexander Grenadier regiment, used the following remarkable words: "If the city of Berlin should again impudently and disobediently rise against the king, as in 1848, then, my grenadiers, it will be your duty, with the points of your bayonets, to annihilate the impudent and disobedient." The press of Germany is puzzled over this pessimistic talk, and the Tageblatt hints that the revolution of 1848 was not directed against the Hohenzollern dynasty, and appeals "from the ill-informed emperor to the emperor rightly informed."

As the sultan of Turkey fears attempts by anarchists upon his life, he will exclude tourists from the precincts of the Yildiz Kiosk at Constantinople.

Maurice Barrymore, the actor, is in an insane asylum at New York.

Chinese who were citizens of the Hawaiian islands prior to August 12, 1898, by birth or naturalization, are entitled to enter the United States. Attorney-General Griggs, in reply to a letter from Collector Stratton of San Francisco, said that the treaty of annexation provided that all persons citizens of Hawaii under its laws on August 12, 1898, then became citizens of the United States.

John W. Forbes, at a preliminary hearing at Groveland, Cal., on the charge of bigamy, was held to appear before the superior court, his bond being fixed at $1000. Forbes married Miss Edith Bailey of Oakdale at San Jose in April, 1900. It is charged that he has a wife living in Ottawa, Canada, from whom he has never been divorced.

Evidence of a brutal murder was discovered by cattle-herders in the finding of the body of Albert M. Anderson in a gulch near Winters, Cal. The body lay some 75 feet from the road, at the foot of a bluff, over which it had been thrown and then dragged to a hiding place. The murdered man's skull had been crushed in with some heavy weapon. He was in Winters last Sunday night at 10 o'clock, and then started for home. That was the last seen of him alive.

The booty of a burglary was unearthed in a sandbank on the shore of Palouse river, near Colfax, Cal., by Adam Weitz. The find consisted of 11 gold watches, 18 gold rings and other valuables. They were done up in tobacco sacks and had evidently been buried in the sand years ago. The watches are badly damaged, some of the works having been entirely rusted out. The value of the goods when new must have been about $1000.

OIL! OIL! OIL!

New Enterprise in Mendocino County.

The oil fields of California are offering opportunities for investment that cannot be surpassed. Wells are being sunk daily that are putting thousands into the pockets of investors by the increase in the value of stocks alone. Professor LeConte of the University of California, in his work on geology, states that the oil field in California extends as far north along the coast as Cape Mendocino. Professor LeConte also says that the best indication of high-grade oil deposits is the existence of gas and burning springs.

The Orr's Hot Springs Oil Company has been formed for the purpose of sinking an oil well on the Orr's Hot Springs property, 15 miles northwest of Ukiah, in Mendocino county. On this land, gas issues from the crevices of the rocks, and burns continuously with a steady flame; there are many springs bubbling up from oil sand that will burn when lighted with a match; sulphur springs; brown and green scum, forming on pools of fresh water, oily to the touch; walls of sandstone, seamed with the rocky indications of oil deposits; and oily substances issuing from the ground in many places.

The Directors and officers of the Orr's Hot Springs Oil Company are as follows: J. L. Orr, President; W. J. McClellan, Vice-President; A. J. Bledsoe, Secretary; S. M. Orr, Treasurer, and Robert McKinley.

This company is capitalized for $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at a par value of $1 each, and of this amount 40,000 shares will be placed on the market at once for development purposes, at 25 cents per share. Buy now. Get in on the ground floor. As operations progress, the market price of this stock will advance to 50 cents per share within a short time. The Directors will make an earnest effort to get machinery on the ground, ready to bore, within 90 days.

The company has employed R. L. Crane as its agent for the sale of stock in Ukiah and vicinity, and he is authorized to take orders for stock, receive money, and deliver shares. Other agents are wanted in other localities.

The Holland Submarine Boat.

All of our readers are familiar with the Holland submarine boat, with which it is possible to go about completely under water. If the enemy have a big warship lying in a strongly fortified harbor, the boat can be submerged and make its way to the ship, place a powerful explosive under it, and blow it to pieces without appearing above water. While this boat secretly destroys ships of the enemy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters likewise attacks and overcomes dangerous diseases. A few doses will give relief in any stomach, liver or blood disorders. The Bitters not only cure the sick, but prevent the well from becoming sick. It should be taken by all who need a strengthening tonic.

Count Leo Tolstoi has been exiled from Russia.

Leander Stanley, formerly sheriff of Sacramento county, committed suicide by firing a bullet into his brain. Deceased had been ill for a long time.

An American named John Lee was arrested at Hongkong for obtaining goods and money by false pretences. He masqueraded as "C. E. Morgan, surgeon of the U. S. S. Brooklyn," and went about attired in a naval uniform. He was bound to Manila when arrested.

The Ceris Indians on Tiburon island, in the Gulf of California, are reported to have massacred five Mexican prospectors. Pedro Pasquiela reached the mainland and reported a fierce fight with the Indians. He escaped, but he believes his five companions were killed.

Joseph H. Millard of Omaha and Governor Charles H. Dietrich of Hastings were elected United States senators respectively for the long and short terms by the Nebraska legislature.

Wesley Dollarhide, a notorious character, was shot and instantly killed at Klamathon, Cal., by Deputy Sheriff George Norris. Dollarhide was intoxicated, and had attacked and badly stabbed Jack Norris, a brother of the deputy, in a saloon, and when the officer arrived Dollarhide attacked him and cut him badly on the hand. The deputy then drew his pistol and fired, instantly killing the disturber.

The Northern Pacific and Great Northern companies have placed orders in the east for 2000 Italian laborers to do construction work in Washington and adjoining states this summer. They will supersede Oriental laborers.

Mrs. Laura E. Newhall, an artist and authoress of some local note, died at her home, 984 Sutter street, San Francisco. In July, 1884, Laura E. Terry married Joshua O. Newhall, who owned a general merchandise store at Newhall, Los Angeles county. In April, 1898, she obtained a divorce from her husband on the ground of desertion.

W. H. Watkins, a well-to-do baker of New Whatcom, Wash., has sold his business and all his property and has given the proceeds, with all his lifetime savings, to Shiloh college, which has for its object the training of people "how to better serve the Lord." With his wife and four children he has gone to Shiloh, Me., to enter the college. Its graduates are missionaries, who go wherever they are called, following strictly the biblical injunction of "taking no heed for the morrow" so far as this world's goods are concerned. Watkins is 60 years of age.

Anastatia Murphy, executrix of the estate of Charles Murphy, has accepted $17,325 in settlement of the claim of her late husband against the government for services and labor performed on the building of the Mare Island stone dock. Murphy, as contractor for the work, used explosives, but was stopped by the naval authorities, as blasting would, in their opinion, destroy a costly cofferdam built outside the gateway of the dock. Murphy claimed $100,000 damages. He was offered $40,000, which he refused.

John Berg, a coal miner at Rosslyn, Wash., being afraid of banks, has been in the habit of burying his savings beneath the floor of his barn, and had accumulated nearly $2000. He went recently to add to his hoard, but found his treasure gone. Berg made a positive statement to the city marshal that only two persons outside of his own family knew where the money was hidden. He suspects that one of these took the money.

An infuriated bull gored Fred Doubledower to death on a ranch near Cowiche Creek, Wash. What caused the animal to attack his keeper will never be known, as when the body was rescued life was extinct. Doubledower was gored terribly, and the beast literally pawed him into an unrecognizable mass.

Work was begun at San Pedro on the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railway. More than 100 men went to work to reconstruct the roadbed of what has been known as the Los Angeles Terminal railway, preparatory to laying 75-pound steel rails along the present right of way to tidewater. Surveyors are now in the field from Salt Lake, and by the time the work now in hand is completed the company expects to be ready for the more serious job of construction to and through the mountains.

In the Washington Monument.

Few of the thousands of visitors to the Washington monument have the disposition to climb its 900 steps. It is much easier to ride on the elevator, which makes the ascent of the tall column in about eight minutes. But visitors who walk one way, either up or down, are well rewarded by a near view of the inscriptions on the memorial tablets.

One hundred and seventy-six of these tablets were contributed by various societies, lodges, cities, states, foreign countries and private individuals. The variety of their inscriptions attests the wide reach of the influence of Washington.

The Association of Journeymen Stonecutters of Philadelphia, under the emblems of their trade, inscribe on their tablet "United We Stand." Westmoreland county, Va., describes itself simply as "The Birthplace of Washington." Greece, the "Mother of Ancient Liberty," sends from the Parthenon "This Ancient Stone as a Testimony of Honor and Admiration."

The Turkish inscription, it is said, was written by the court poet and bears a date in a "year of the Hegira." One of the longest inscriptions appears on a stone presented by some Chinese Christians of Che Heang, China, in 1853. It declares George Washington to have been braver than Tsau-Tsau or Lin-Pi.

A likeness of Shakespeare stands out on a stone at the twenty-sixth landing, as the short level spaces between the flights of stairs are called, bearing these words above, "All that live must die," and below, "A tribute of respect from the ladies and gentlemen of the dramatic profession of America."—Youth's Companion.
